Mr. S. C. Smith,
155 Centre Street W.,
Richmond Hill, Ont.

Dear sir:

I have received your query about Colin McKenzie, of the Port of Bath, and I am answering it promptly, as I now have ready answers which I have gathered for you. I do this, as it is so easy to forget and have to look up again.

I was happy to discover that there are a few of us who are interested in Canadiana. Both my wife and I fall in that category, as Mrs. Cape may have intimated. My chief interest, however, is in a special type of Canadiana, namely, the history and genealogy of our pioneer families, chiefly those of Loyalist descent. Therefore, I do know much about the man in question.

Colin McKenzie was the son of Colin, Sr., and his wife, a sister of the well-known Captain John Walden Meyers, one of the founders of Belleville. Colin, Sr., a soldier in the Royal Artillery, came from Scotland to America in 1767, and finally established himself Crown Point, N. Y. He served in the American Revolution in Jessup's Loyal Rangers as a sergeant. Three of his sons, Colin, Thomas and Duncan served in the same unit as Drummers. All were in their very early teens. Colin, Jr., enlisted in Dec., 1780, at the age of ten, as a drummer in Capt. Jonathan Jones' Company of Loyal Rangers. He settled in Ernesttown Township with his father in 1784. He married, 15 April, 1794, Mary Hall Howard, daughter of Lieut. John Howard. He died 2 Nov., 1850, at which time he was a widower with four daughters.

The diary of John C. Clark has the following, which will answer your question:

2 Nov., 1850,

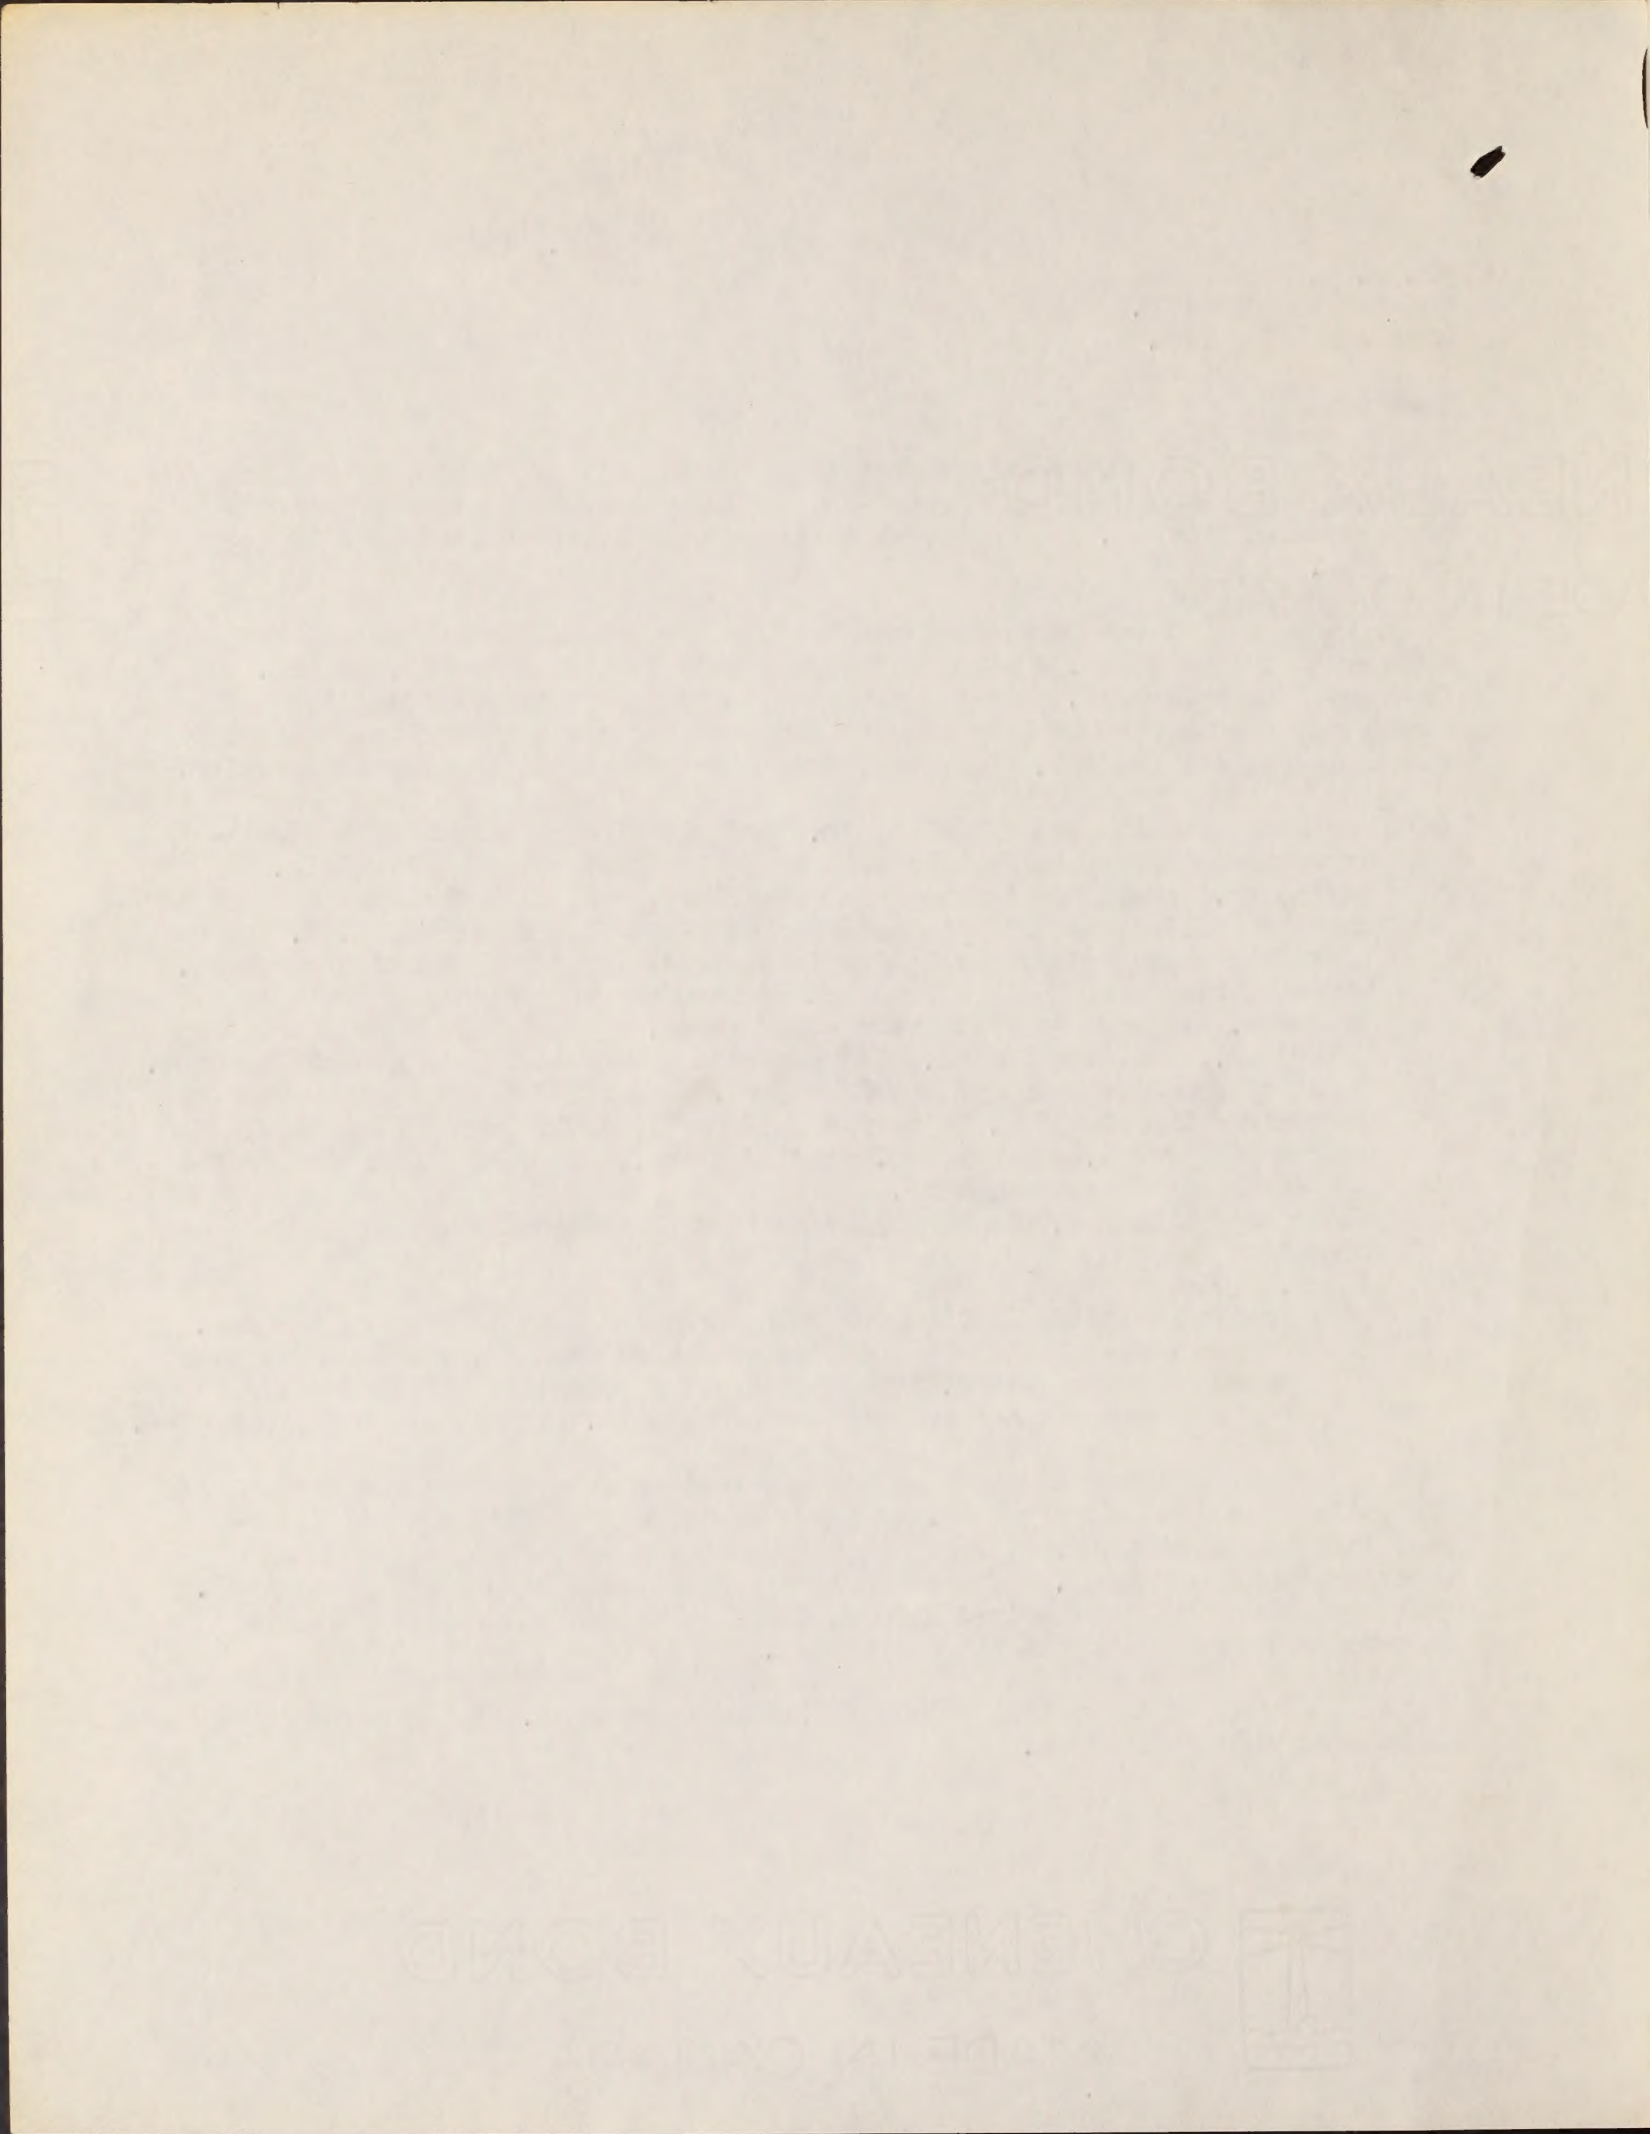

Collin McKenzie, Esquire, of Bath, died in his 78th year of his age. He was one of the first settlers on Amherst Island, but in a few years moved into Ernesttown. He was many years a Justice of the Peace, Custom House Officer and Colonel of Militia. His illness was protracted.

I may add that Bath was a port of entry before the arrival of the railroad and modern highways. In those early days practically all transportation was made by water, and Bath, being on the Bay of Quinte, was an important point of entry. A Custom House was functioned here until about 1925. I did not know that he repaired clocks, but I am not at all surprised, as he appears to have been an intelligent person.

I trust that I have satisfied your query. If there are other questions, send them along.

Yours sincerely,

COLIN MCKENZIE, U. S.

Colin McKenzie, Senior, an early Loyalist settler in ~~Ernesttown~~ <sup>presented</sup>, was born in Scotland, according to his Loyalist Claim, which was ~~made~~ <sup>presented</sup> in Montreal in 1777. This statement is also confirmed by an entry found in the War Office Papers, preserved in the Public Archives, Ottawa. This entry is a Muster Roll of Capt. John Jones' Company of Jessup's Loyal Rangers, then stationed at Vercheres January 1st, 1782. This Roll reveals that Colin McKenzie, born in Scotland, was 36 years of age, 5' 11" in height, a Sergeant with 1 year and 1 month service in his regiment.

McKenzie's claim also stated that he was a resident of Crown Point, on Lake Champlain, when the Revolution began. He had come to America in 1767, as a soldier in the Royal Artillery. Subsequently he received his discharge from the Service and settled at Crown Point, where he may well have done duty with his Battery of Artillery. His Claim also stated that he had joined General Burgoyne in 1776. It is far more likely that he had presented himself to Sir Guy Carleton, when the latter reached Crown Point and drove the American Fleet further up the Lake. Crown Point, in November, 1776, became the focal point to which many Loyal Americans hastened to offer their services as the clouds of war darkened the American scene. It was to this point that General John Burgoyne made his advance, on his journey to final surrender at Saratoga the following October, 1777.

After the defeat and surrender of Burgoyne's Army in October, 1777, the McKenzies, with many others who had also aided the British in their advance, escaped capture and imprisonment, or worse, by retiring to Canada. Colin McKenzie, his wife and four children, are recorded as having reached St. John's, Quebec, on November 20th, 1777. Here the family remained until their journey up the St. Lawrence River to the Bay of Quinte in June, 1781. This statement is confirmed by the monthly Subsistence Lists. These lists reveal that Colin McKenzie, his wife, and four children, three sons and a daughter, were at St. John. During this time, Colin is recorded as employed in the King's Service, but not doing military duties.

In 1780, when it was discovered that the rebels were not living up to the terms of Burgoyne's capitulation, it was decided to reform the several regiments and companies into a new regiment called the Loyal Rangers under the command of Major Edward Jessup. Colin McKenzie was appointed a sergeant in the new corps, serving in Captain John Jones' Company on November 15th of that year. Two days later, on the 17th, Thomas, who is assumed to be his oldest son, became a drummer in the same regiment, as did Colin, Junior, on the 21st of the month. These boys were then said to be ten and eleven years of age. In January, 1782, the regiment was stationed at Vercheres, Quebec, on the south shore of the St. Lawrence, between Montreal and Borel. A year later they were at Riviere Du Chaine, also on the South Shore, a few miles down stream from Borel.

The Subsistence Lists for the years 1778 and 1779 record the parents with three sons and a daughter. In the latter year there was an additional son, making a total of four sons. In 1780 and 1781, the father and two sons are absent, accounting for their enlistments in Jessup's Loyal Rangers. In the List of June, 1781, additional information is found. It tells us that Mrs. McKenzie was 34 years of age, the two sons were 6 and 2 years of age, while the daughter was 13 years of age. The List of 1783 notes the absence of the daughter. This due to the fact that females, on reaching 16 years of age, were considered as employable, or married, perhaps.

The war came to a close in the autumn of 1783, and on December 24th the Loyalist Regiments were disbanded. During the following winter these unhappy, exiled people fretted away the cold, blustery days and nights waiting anxiously for brighter days to come. In the meantime, the authorities here and in England were making up their minds what to do with them.

The decision was finally reached before the spring had really opened. It was decided that settlement would be undertaken by regiments or companies. Areas were chosen, and the opening of navigation was anxiously awaited. The areas of settlement would be along the north shore of the upper Saint Lawrence between the Quebec border and Lake Ontario, along the Bay of Quinte, at Niagara, and the shores of the Gulf at Gaspe. Later, a settlement was also established in the Eastern Townships of Quebec.

As might be expected, the spring of 1784 arrived later than usual. Ice blocked the St. Lawrence River until late in April. The McKenzies finally left Lachine late in May for the journey up the river with others of Jessup's Rangers, who were to settle along the upper reaches of the river, while the residue were to settle along the Bay of Quinte. The McKenzie family, who were to settle with the latter group, finally arrived in Cataragui early in June. Here they remained in tents for a short time, but, before June was gone they moved on to Township No. 2 (Transecttown) for final settlement. Here, along the bay shore from Millhaven to Bath tents were pitched, while the newcomers awaited the allocation of their new lands were to take place at long last. For most of them, seven long years had come and gone since leaving their homes.

Although Colin, a sergeant, was entitled to 600 acres of land, part of which was Lot 23 in the third Concession, as well as part of Lot 6, Concession 4, he finally settled on Amherst Island, on lands obtained from Sir John Johnson. Colin's home was located on the north, or first concession, midway between Stella and Emerald. There are several of his descendants still resident on Amherst Island, although the surname of McKenzie is not found along the Bay of Quinte.

In February, 1788, Colin McKenzie appeared before the British Commissioners who were investigating the claims of Loyalists for loss of property during the late Revolution. He was claiming indemnification for losses sustained by the seizure of his assets at Crown Point. He had given his claim to Captain Gurnersal, who was proceeding to England.

Here is a copy of his claim:

"Evidence on the Claim of Colin McKenzie, late of Crown Point, N. Y. Province.

Claimant. Sworn:

He is a native of Scotland. He came to America in 1767---a soldier in the Royal Artillery. When the Rebellion broke out he lived at Crown Point. He joined Gen. After the War began, he gave £150 to Robt. Lewis, York--Congress Money for it, and 100 Drs. for his Furniture. He had 3 Oxen, 2 Cows and 3 Hogs, and some Hay destroyed by the rebels. The House and Furniture was destroyed.

Wits. Joseph Franklyn, Sworn:

Remembers Collin McKenzie's House or that he lived in. He had a Br. in Law to whom the house belonged. He had some cattle. Claimant says he does not charge for his Brothers House.

Dr. Thos. Sparham, Sworn:

Says that he remembers Robert Lewis House and that McKenzie bought in in 1776.

It was a good new House and was burnt down. Believes he had some Cattle but he cannot say how many.

A GOOD MAP.

On the 8th of May, 1789, Colin's wife also presented a claim before the Commission at their meeting on Carlton Island. Gave Claim to Mr. Gaylor in 1783.

Here is her claim:

Moves personal estate as she cannot say the quantity.

Although our knowledge of the active years of Colin McKenzie is above average, we cannot say the same of his wife, or wives. Some one 'borned' his children, as old Dr. Sturtevant once said to me. But, were there one, two, or three of them. Of this we cannot, at this date, be sure. The assumption is that he had two wives, the first being the widow of Col. Flecker, of Crown Point, whom he apparently married about 1767, shortly after his arrival in America. Her full maiden name is not clear, although she is said to have been a sister of Capt. Although our knowledge of the active years of Colin McKenzie is above average, we cannot say the same of his wife, or wives. Some one 'borned' his children, as old Dr. Sturtevant once said to me. But, were there one, two, or three of them. Of this we cannot, at this date, be sure. The assumption is that he had two wives, the first being the widow of Col. Bleecker, of Crown Point, whom he apparently married about 1767, shortly after his arrival in America. Her full maiden name is not clear, although she is said to have been a sister of Capt. John Walden Meyer, the founder of Belleville, Ontario. She was the mother of the two Hleecker children, namely, John Hleecker, the founder of Trenton, Ontario, who was apparently born in 1767, and Lucretia, believed to have been born in 1766. John was with his mother in St. John in 1783, but Lucretia is believed then to have been married to a Mr. Henderson. The husband died before 1783, the year in which she became the wife of Henry Finkle, an early resident of Bath, Ontario.

Colin and his wife arrived in St. John in November, 1777, accompanied by <sup>four</sup> ~~three~~ children, believed to be Sarah, Thomas, Colin, Jr., <sup>and</sup> ~~and~~ William. Duncan, the youngest son, was born at St. John in 1779. A subsistence list in June, 1781, tells us that Mrs. McKenzie was 34 years of age, with sons, William, aged 6, and Duncan, aged 2 years, with a daughter aged 13 years. At this time the two older sons, Thomas aged 12 and Colin, Jr., aged 11, were drummers in Jessup's rangers.

A puzzling situation arises in the fall of 1783, when a Sarah McKenzie signs for clothing for the two boys remaining in the family. Was this Sarah the wife who had been the Widow Hleecker, was she the second wife, Sarah Powers, or might she have been the daughter Sarah? It does not seem logical to consider her to be the second wife. It can be assumed that the first wife had died, there being no record, or she may have been the daughter Sarah.

Another McKenzie problem has to do with the baptism, on January 18th, 1789, of Thomas, son of Colin and Sarah McKenzie of Ernesttown. We must assume that this wife is the Sarah Powers, whose Loyalist Claim has been recorded earlier. We must also assume that the Thomas McKenzie, the drummer in Jessup's Loyal Rangers, had died, as there is no further record of him. Nor are there any further records anywhere of Colin or his wife, except that she, Sarah, wife of Colin McKenzie, of Amherst Island, was buried there on October 19th, 1800.

Dear Mr. Hogeboom:

Thank you for your letter of March 25, 1974.

I was able to locate patents for the following people.
If you wish to order copies write: The Recording Office,
Ministry of Government Services, 3rd Floor, Hearst Block, Bay & Wellesley Streets, Toronto, Ontario. The fee is $1.50 per patent and your cheque should be made payable to the Treasurer of Ontario. Be sure to quote all details.

Benjamin Babcock, 200 acres, May 17, 1802, Lot 14, Concession 4, Camden Twp., Lennox & Addington.
Liber M, Folio 332.

Benjamin Babcock, 200 acres, Nov. 30, 1807, Lot 10, Concession 7, Portland Twp., Frontenac County.
Liber M.D., Folio 227.

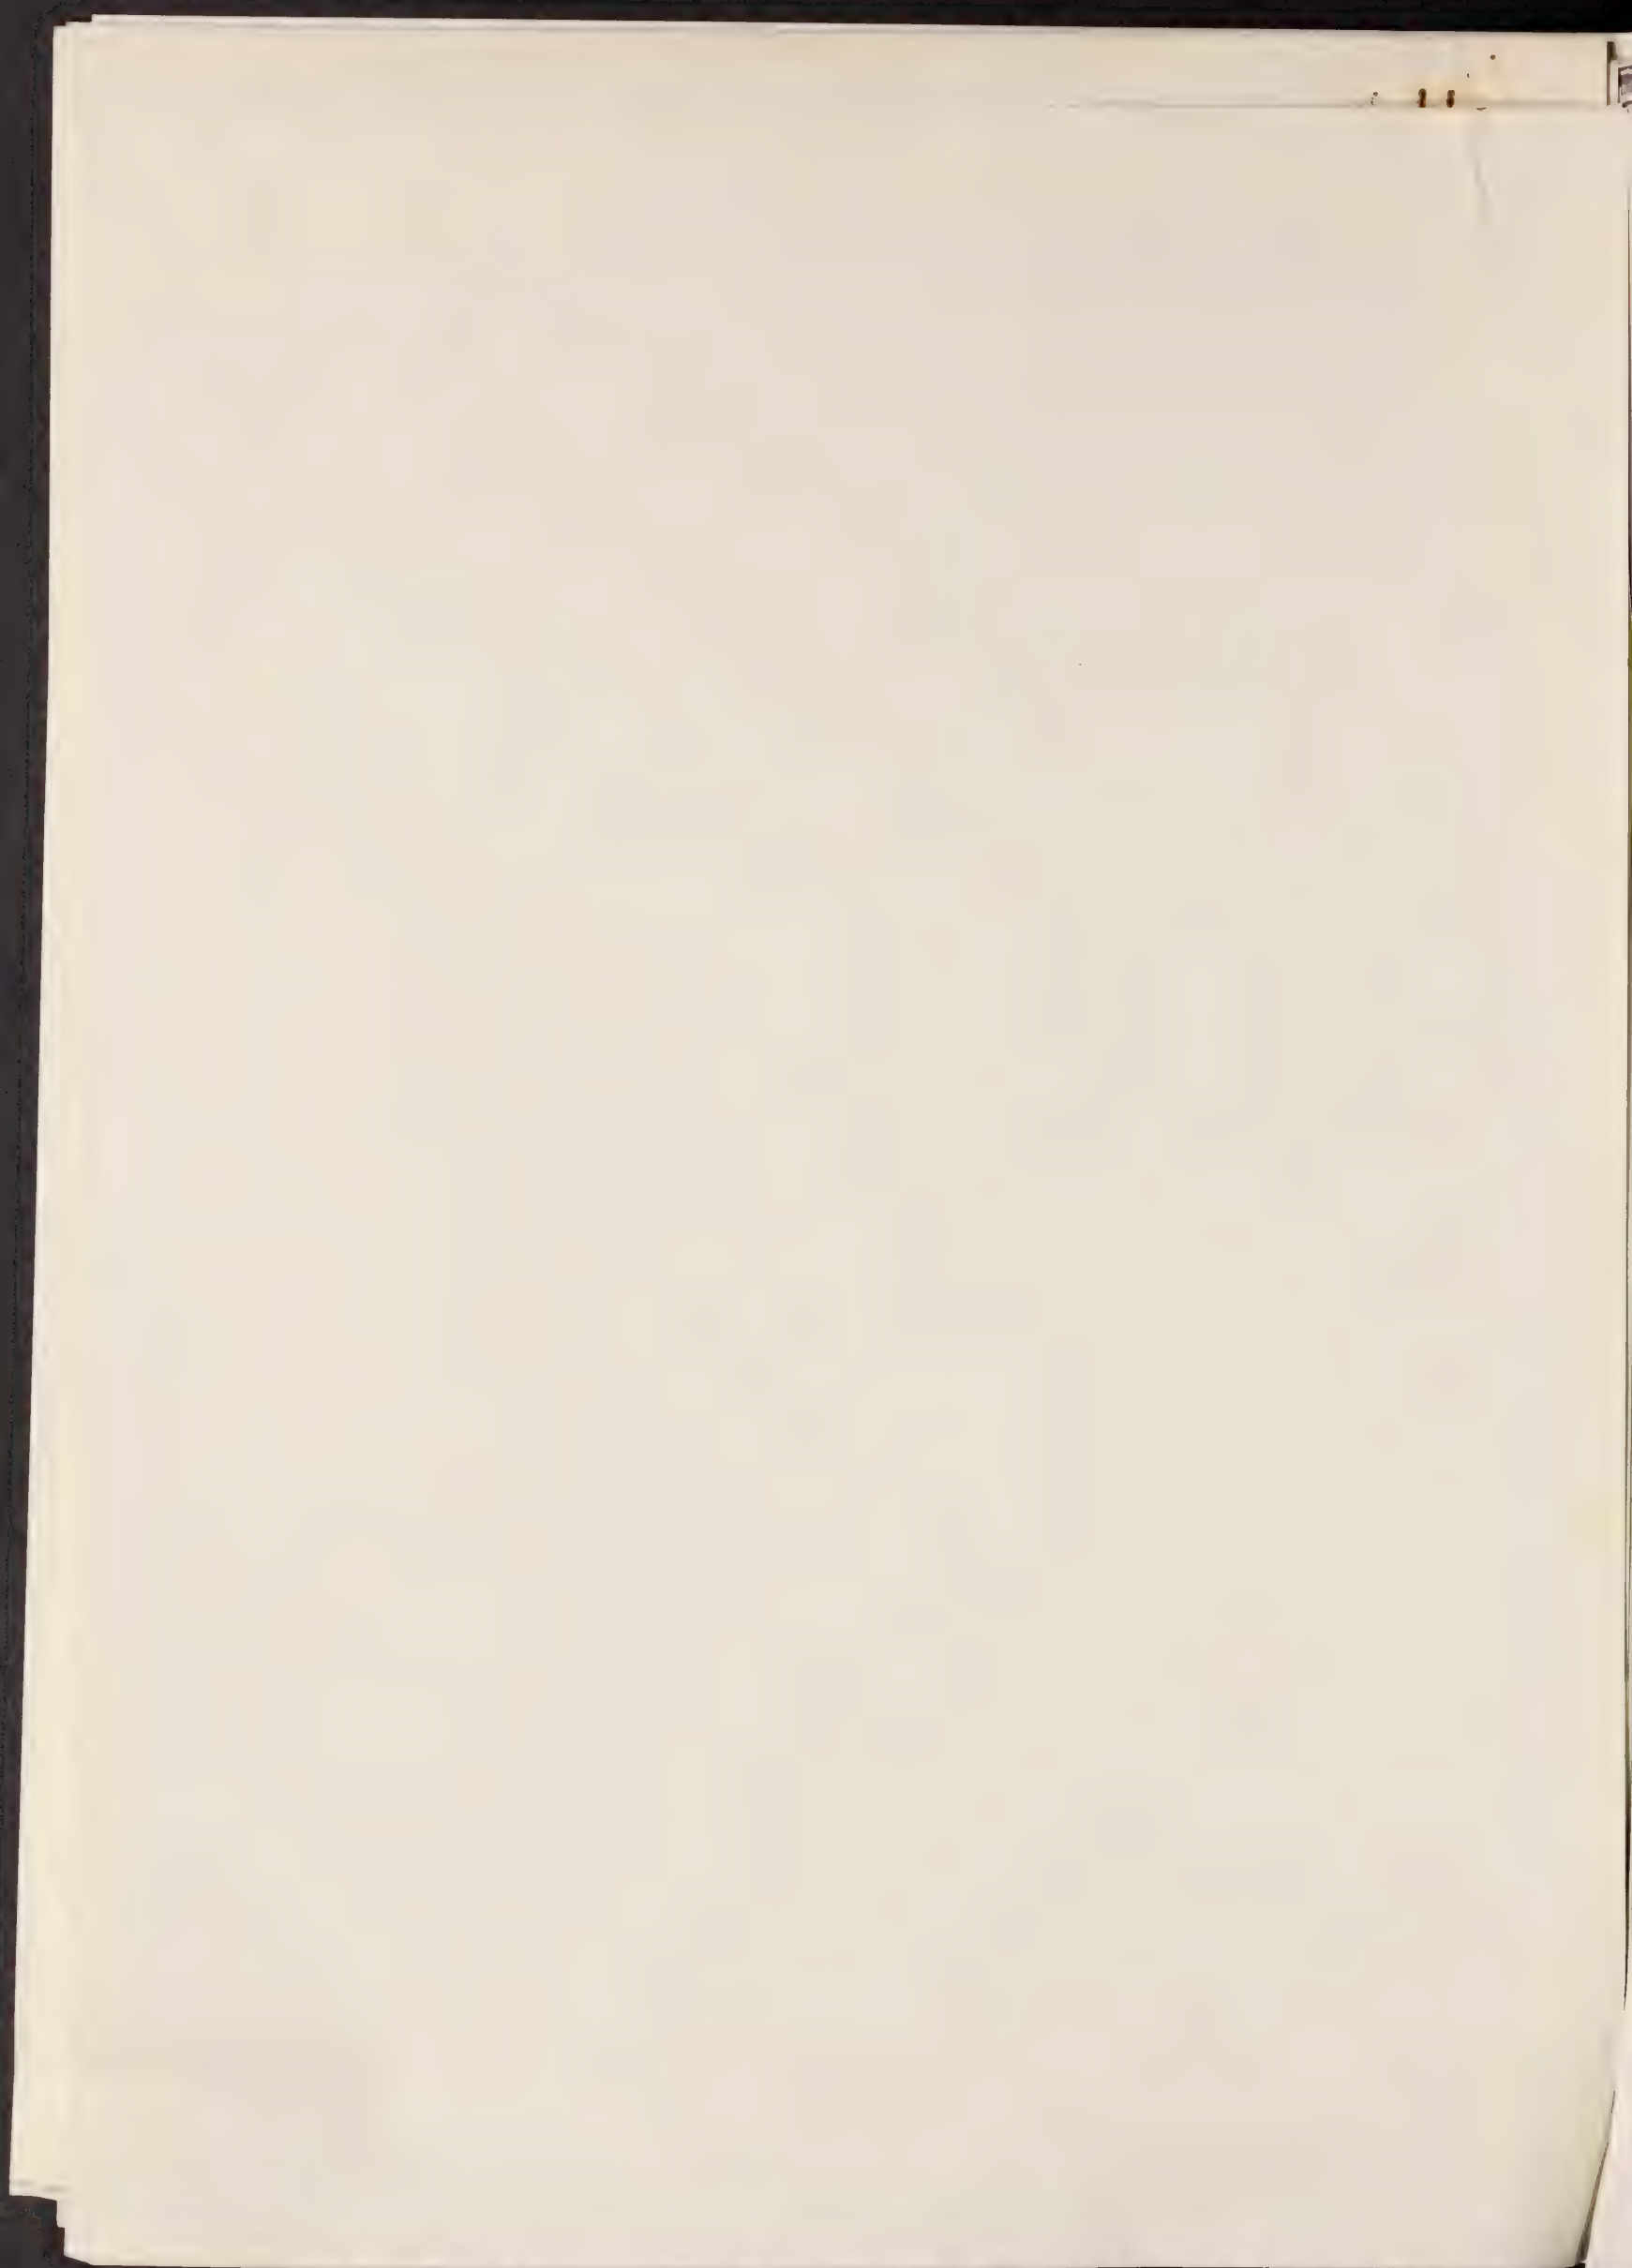

Mary Howard, alias McKenzie, 200 acres, April 29, 1809,
Lot 9, Concession 4, Loughborough Twp., Frontenac County.
Liber M.E., Folio 17.

Colin McKenzie, 600 acres, April 6, 1797, Lots 7, 8, 10 of Concession 4, Pittsburgh Twp., Frontenac County.
Liber C, Folio 652.

Colin McKenzie & Isaac Snyder, 200 acres, May 17, 1802, Lot 24, but formerly Lot 23, Concession 3, Ernesttown Twp.,
Lennox & Addington. Liber M.B., Folio 125.

Colin McKenzie, 77 acres, May 25, 1802, middle 3rd part of Lot 2, Concession 1, Ernesttown Twp., Lennox & Addington.
Liber M.C., Folio 305.

The story regarding Thomas McKenzie is somewhat more involved. On Feb. 5, 1829, an Order-in-Council was passed, granting him 200 acres of land as the son of a United Empire Loyalist (see copy). However, Thomas was never located though he held the scrip for many years (see letter dated May 29, 1840, testifying to this fact). Between 1840 and 1843, Thomas died and a new Order-in-Council (dated Feb. 18, 1843) was passed, giving the scrip to his eldest brother and "heir at law"--the brother's name was Colin McKenzie. I checked the Index to Patents for 1843-1850 to see if Colin had actually obtained land from this transaction. No patent was found, which makes me think that once he had received the scrip in 1843, he then either sold it immediately or perhaps he sold it after location, but before patenting had taken place.

Lastly, there is the case of Panina Hogaboom. Her Order-in-Council was dated June 2, 1831 (see enclosed copy). On Jan. 22, 1833, the Surveyor General's Office sent a form letter to Mr. Mount-- the land agent in Caradoc Township, Middlesex County, instructing him to locate Panina. The location was made on Lot 25, Concession 5, Warwick Township, Lambton County, on August 1, 1833. However, Panina did not receive a patent--she sold her right to the land and Ira Byrns received the patent on Oct. 10, 1856 for the west part of the same lot. (This information is taken from the Abstract Index to Deeds for Warwick Township.)

I hope that the above information will be of some help to you. For more detailed searches, one should consult the Ontario Genealogical Society, as they maintain a list of researchers who will trace family trees for a reasonable fee. I have enclosed their brochure for your information.

Yours sincerely,

David Russell

Dear Dr. Burleigh: MCKENZIE

I enclose the papers that I promised you and a partial pedigree to show where I fit into the picture. You can see why I have such an interest in your part of the province. I lived in Kingston from 1920 to 1923 at the corner of Went & Wellington Sts when my father was the manager of the Bank of Commerce there. Since my mother's home was in Bellville I was taken to see all the places on the Bath Road and was told her family's history. We had lived in the west before that, remote from all our relations.

Thank you very much for autographing the book for me and writing such a nice dedication.

Sincerely

Grace Brymner

11 Sept 1794 Mary, born 23 ult (Aug), daughter of Colin McKenzie, Sgt.
R. Artillery & his wife Margaret Sponsors: Mary Goldsworth, Mrs. McKenzie, John Richards.

Church records give no additional news of the McKenzies. The English church at William Henry (Sorel) with Rev. John Doty as rector, adds a fleeting view. It records the baptism at St John's, of "Mary, born 23 ult., daughter of Colin McKenzie, Sgt R. Artillery, and his wife, Margaret, on 17 Sept 1794"

Although this record appears to be authentic, I suspect that the baptism of Mary occurred before Oct., 1784. It is possible that the date is in error. The Rev Doty travelled about the military camps serving the refugees where possible. In any event, it would appear that Margaret may have been the first wife, and the mother of Colin's children.

Rev John Lenghorn's register in the Village of Bath, has two informative records of Colin's <sup>own</sup> family. In later years it contains records dealing with his children. But two refer to Colin Senior.

They are

1. baptism of Thomas, son of Colin & Sarah McKenzie.
2. Burial of Sarah McKenzie wife of Colin of Amhurst Island

Our ancestors might well have been in the midst of the advent of another ice age, with a mile of ice to eventually cover this part of the world, as it is believed was present during that frigid period.

There have been other peculiar years. Perhaps not in our lifetime. But who is to agree or deny that the incoming summer will be what my neighbor calls a doozy, much like the late John C. Clark ~~mentioned~~ mentioned in his diary in the year 1842-43.

By a strange coincidence that was the year in which the founder of Millenism declared the world would come to an end. And what better year for a session of change as began in a meteoric shower on 13th November 1833, when which left the region ~~the same~~ <sup>leaving</sup> as it was, fact that the end of the world was about to occur. This led to the prophecy that the world would end in 1843. The story, as told in that book "Forgotten Leaves of History", relates how a clock peddler fared in the fatal year. He stopped at an inn for the night - no accommodation for horse or man - no food. Why deal with the last day only moments away. No need for money, meat nor millenism. So the last day came & passed and the world and its population remained to carry on as usual.

Dear Mr. Brewster

I have very happy to attend the very interesting information contained in your letter of June 9. I should have acknowledged your letter sooner but thought possibly you might be interested in what I have been able to discover about the old clock. So I have put several on paper the more important part of what was recorded. I am very glad to hear of your interest in the subject.

I am amazed at the detail work you are doing in your book on Colonial Spectacles. However to clarify matters I should say that what I thought was a "Spanish" paper signed by him is actually the historical entry with the heading in ink. The text and the two circular drawings are in ink.
Accordingly there is no any thought to be made of the matter.

Again very truly yours
I am very much appreciated
Yours very truly

J. C. Clark Diary

1859. 19 Oct. Mr. Arthur Ingham married Miss Emily, second surviving daughter of the Hon Benjamin Seymour, of Port Hope, married by the Rev. Dr. Short. (aged 21 or 22)

1841 July 8 Mr. Herschmer & Miss Eliza McKenzie married.

Note: Is this Charles Herschmer, Esq., of Belleville, who died very sudden at Toronto, a native of Kingston and brother of the Rev. William Herschmer. He married a Miss McKenzie, according to the Herschmer file. Their daughter, Mary, married 18.5.1855, Charles F. Giddens (1835-1905) whose children were:
Henry 1855-1933, B.P.
Maude Gertrude, married Col. Rivers, R.C.A.

Charles, son of Lawrence, bapt 18 Dec, 1814.

The M. Herschmer, female, aged 9, in above census record is likely the Mary who married Chas. F. Giddens. On 18.5.1855, she was about 20 yrs of age. She must have been an orphan in 1851, with her mother dead, and was likely a niece of Mrs. Seymour, who was a McKenzie was the mother of the two Fleecker children, namely, John Fleecker, the founder of Trenton, Ontario, who was apparently born in 1767, and Lucretia, believed to have been born in 1766. John was with his mother in St. John in 1783, but Lucretia is believed then to have been married to a Mr. Wenderon. <sup>apparently</sup> ~~Her~~ husband died before 1788, the year in which she became the wife of Henry Finkle, an early resident of Bath, Ontario.

Colin and his wife arrived in St. John in November, 1777, accompanied <sup>four</sup> ~~and~~ by ~~three~~ children, believed to be Sarah, Thomas, Colin, Jr., ~~and~~ William. Duncan, the youngest son, was born at St. John in 1779. A subsistence List in June, 1781, tells us that Mrs. McKenzie was 34 years of age, with sons, William, aged 6, ~~and~~ Duncan, aged 2 years, <sup>and</sup> ~~with~~ a daughter aged 13 years. At this time the two older sons, Thomas aged 12, <sup>c</sup> ~~and~~ Colin, Jr., aged 11, were drummers in Jessup's Rangers.

~~A puzzling situation arises in the fall of 1783, when a Sarah McKenzie signs for clothing for the two boys remaining in the family. Was this Sarah? <sup>who was</sup> the wife who had been the Widow Fleecker; was she the second wife, Sarah Powers; or might she have been the daughter Sarah? It does not seem logical to consider her to be the second wife. It can be assumed that the first wife had died, there being no record, or she may have been the daughter Sarah.~~

~~Another McKenzie problem has to do with the baptism, on January 18th, 1789, of Thomas, son of Colin and Sarah McKenzie of Arnesttown. We must assume that this wife is the Sarah Powers, whose Loyalist Claim has been recorded <sup>in the previous year</sup> ~~earlier~~. We must also assume that ~~the~~ <sup>this is</sup> Thomas McKenzie, the drummer in Jessup's Loyal Rangers, ~~had died, as there is no further record of him~~ <sup>of whom and aged about 19 years of age</sup> ~~at the same time it is the last record of Colin Senior.~~ <sup>their burial</sup> ~~nor are there any further records anywhere of Colin or his wife, except to~~ <sup>likely in Bath</sup> ~~be~~, Sarah, wife of Colin McKenzie, of Arherst Island, was buried ~~there~~ on October 19th, 1800. Colin, Senior, died on Amherst Island in 1815. ~~One additional record appears in Langhorne After the departure of Rev. John Langhorne and during the time of the Rev. R. Pollard, several burials were performed by lay persons. Colin was buried on the Island by Sheldon Hawley on 13th November~~~~

~~Margaret~~ ~~was she~~
~~of that party~~ ~~Sheldon Hawley, a lay person, in~~ ~~the period between sections.~~
~~and was interred in Bath on 23 November~~

Sarah Powers, the second wife of Colin Dr., died on Cenhest Island and was interred, it is believed, in Bath<sup>Anglican</sup> Cemetery, by the Rev. John Langhorn on October 19th, 1800. Colin Dr.
~~was~~ continued on Cenhest Island until 1815, when he died on November 11. He was interred two days later, it is believed, in Bath Anglican Cemetery, by Sheldon Hawley, <sup>a</sup> ~~very~~ ~~person~~, during the period between the departure of the Rev R.
Pollard, and the induction of Rev Mr. Wilson, as stated in the Register.
